

Managing tailored prophylaxis efficiently: real-life experiences across continents

BAYER SATELLITE SYMPOSIUM

11:30 – 13:00

WEDNESDAY 7TH FEBRUARY 2018

ROOMS MADRID / PARIS

PALACIO MUNICIPAL, MADRID, SPAIN

Held at the 11th annual congress of the European Association of Haemophilia and Allied Disorders

Managing tailored prophylaxis efficiently: real-life experiences across continents

SYMPOSIUM CHAIRMAN: Cedric Hermans (Belgium)

11:30 – 11:40	Real-life experience of hemophilia A across continents <ul style="list-style-type: none"> What do we have in common? 	C. Hermans
11:40 – 12:00	Individualizing treatment when switching FVIII products <ul style="list-style-type: none"> What drives our decision-making? The Canadian experience The Italian experience	S. Jackson C. Santoro
12:00 – 12:55	Tailored prophylaxis in real-life: clinical case review <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Adapting management of hemophilia A in four distinct clinical scenarios 	Panel members
12:55 – 13:00	Key learnings and close	C. Hermans

In an era of increasing product choice, hemophilia treaters are regularly exposed to new clinical trial data; but does a controlled trial environment always translate to real-world treatment experiences?

Join our multi-national, multi-disciplinary faculty to learn about the everyday realities of managing hemophilia A patients from two different continents.

Through clinical case review and discussion, we will demonstrate how switching FVIII products can bring new opportunities to tailor prophylaxis more efficiently and help your patients live the life they choose.

Held at the 11th annual congress of the European Association of Haemophilia and Allied Disorders